

What do my participants see?

Last Modified on 06/27/2024 12:15 pm EDT

Before participating in their studies, a participant will log in.

After logging in, a participant will be taken to their dashboard. This is where they will see the project(s) that they will be working on. If they are only enrolled in one project, they will be automatically taken into that project. Most participants will only have one project to select from.

Once inside a project, they can access their events. They will also receive notifications for unanswered followups here.

When a participant enters into an event, they will see the questions they need to answer. They may also see the responses from other participants depending on the type of event and question.
